Q: UIPickerView from UITableViewCell I have 2 table cells, lets call them Cell A and Cell B. Both are UITableViewCells. I'm then wanting to add a UIPickerView to each cell so the user can fill in an input. I have the following code, which is throwing an error - "UITableViewCell must be initialized with a tag of 1, and for each new instance of the UITableViewCell class, it must be initialized with a tag of 1000", which makes sense to me. How do I get round this? - (UITableViewCell *)tableView:(UITableView *)tableView cellForRowAtIndex:(NSIndexPath *)indexPath { static NSString *CellIdentifier = @"Cell"; UITableViewCell *cell = [tableView dequeueReusableCellWithIdentifier:CellIdentifier]; if (cell == nil) { cell = [[[UITableViewCell alloc] initWithFrame:CGRectZero reuseIdentifier:CellIdentifier] autorelease]; //cell f678ea9f9e
